Congratulations to Teacher Dilshad Tolliver

Master Infant/Toddler teacher Dilshad Tolliver’s work will be featured in the new edition of Developmentally Appropriate Practice in Early Childhood Education Programs, published by the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

Dilshad’s piece is featured in Appendix A, “Teaching with Developmentally Appropriate Practice: Snapshots and Reflections” and is titled “We Put Paper on the Floor: Supporting the Emergent Literacy Skills of Infants and Toddlers.” Congratulations to Dilshad on her writing and acceptance into this venerable resource in early childhood education!

Here is a description from NAEYC on the new edition of this book:

Since the first edition in 1986, Developmentally Appropriate Practice in Early Childhood Programs has been an essential resource for the field. This fourth edition is fully revised and updated to underscore the critical role social and cultural contexts play in child development and learning, including new research about implicit bias and teachers’ own contexts and considerations of advances in neuroscience.

BUCKEYE PAWS VISITS ASR

Four dogs from the Buckeye Paws program came to visit the A. Sophie Rogers School for their fourth time. We enjoyed their calm presence, exchanged letters and cards and had an up-close, positive experience with animals. See the fun from the latest visit here.

Family Conferences November

Be on the lookout for communication from your child’s teacher about arranging a Zoom family conference in November to discuss your child’s development, education and daily experiences at school.

This fall, teachers assessed children in social, cognitive and physical domains as required by the state. These assessments provide us with an important snapshot of your child’s development and help us to plan and implement curriculum and activities targeted to each child’s individual goals and strengths.

A review of assessments and screenings are one part of the conference, and discussing school friendships and learning, home relationships and setting educational goals are also important parts of this discussion! We look forward to meeting with you!

Classroom Corner: featured project

Children painted self portraits after looking through the book "Bodies are Cool" by Tyler Feeder. They began pointing out characteristics of themselves and others (even Baby Yoda) around the classroom, engaging in what makes them unique. Learn more about the project here.

Holiday Resources

There are several available resources for holiday meals, toys and other assistance in central Ohio. Some opportunities are attached here.

Please reach out to ASR Social Work Intern, Chloe Vonderbrink at 614-247-7488 or vonberbrink.14@osu.edu with any questions or to access more partnerships as they become available this holiday season.
